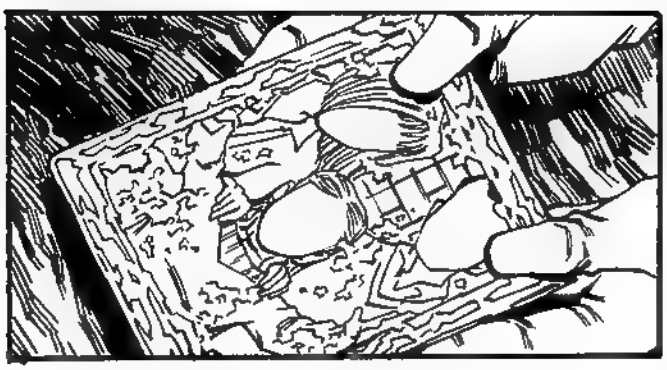
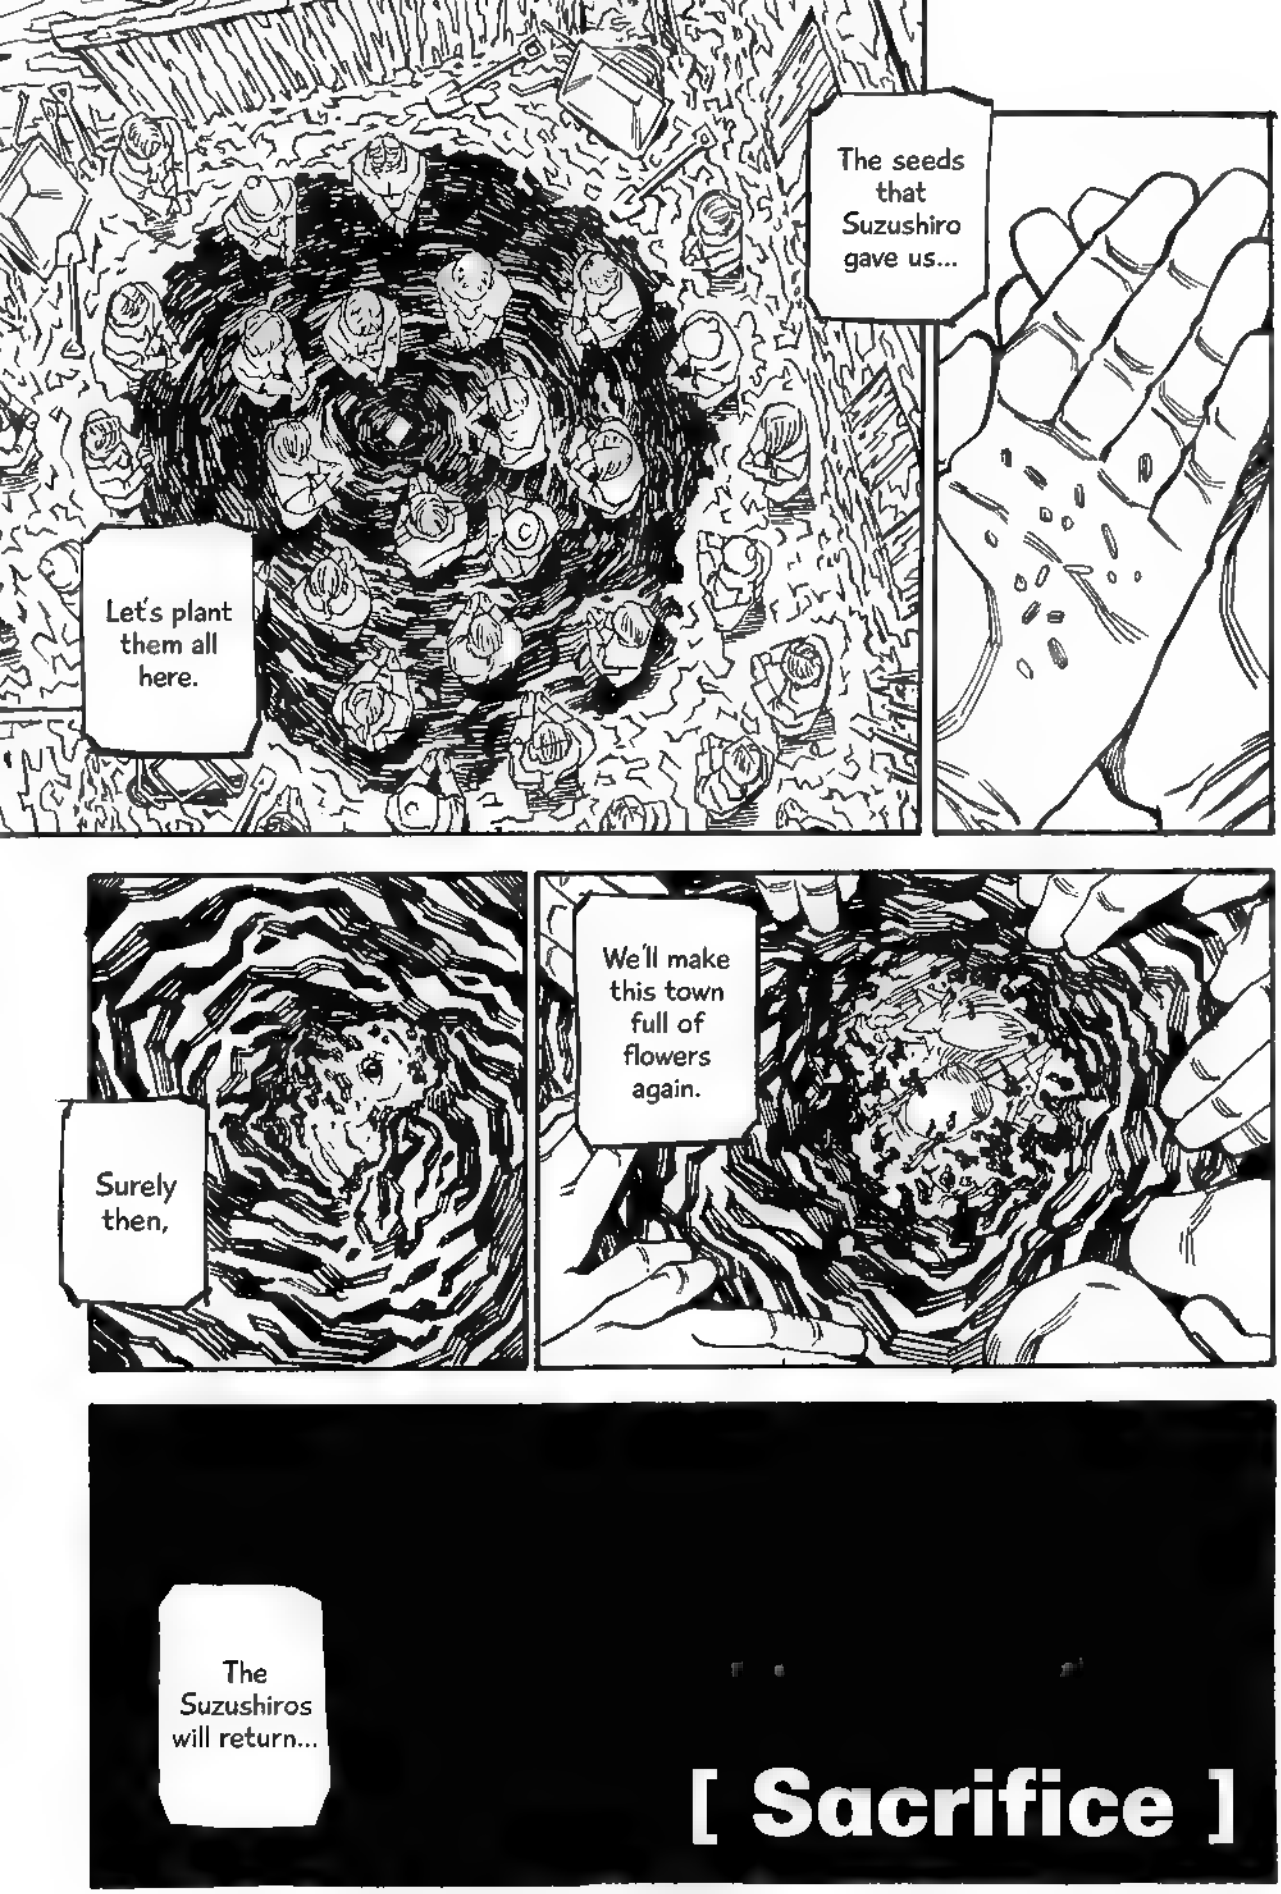
...Hey, did you hear?

The Suzushiros will save us...
That's right...
...It'll be fine.



I tried looking but this was all that was left...
Me too...



The seeds that Suzushiro gave us...
Let's plant them all here.
Surely then,
We'll make this town full of flowers again.
The Suzushiros will return...

...Are we really doing this?
So you've been watching...
You already do it alone on the schoolyard at nights.
No need to be embar-rassed.
My recreations are just guesswork at best...
We don't really know anything concrete about Jomon rituals though...

The children are down here somewhere...
If we don't contact them somehow, we might all be reduced to piles of salt while trapped in this town...
So let's try anything, no matter how stupid it might seem!
Anything could happen now!
But this town is clearly full of foreign bodies right now!

Then perhaps the children,
Are planning to carry out a sacrificial ritual...

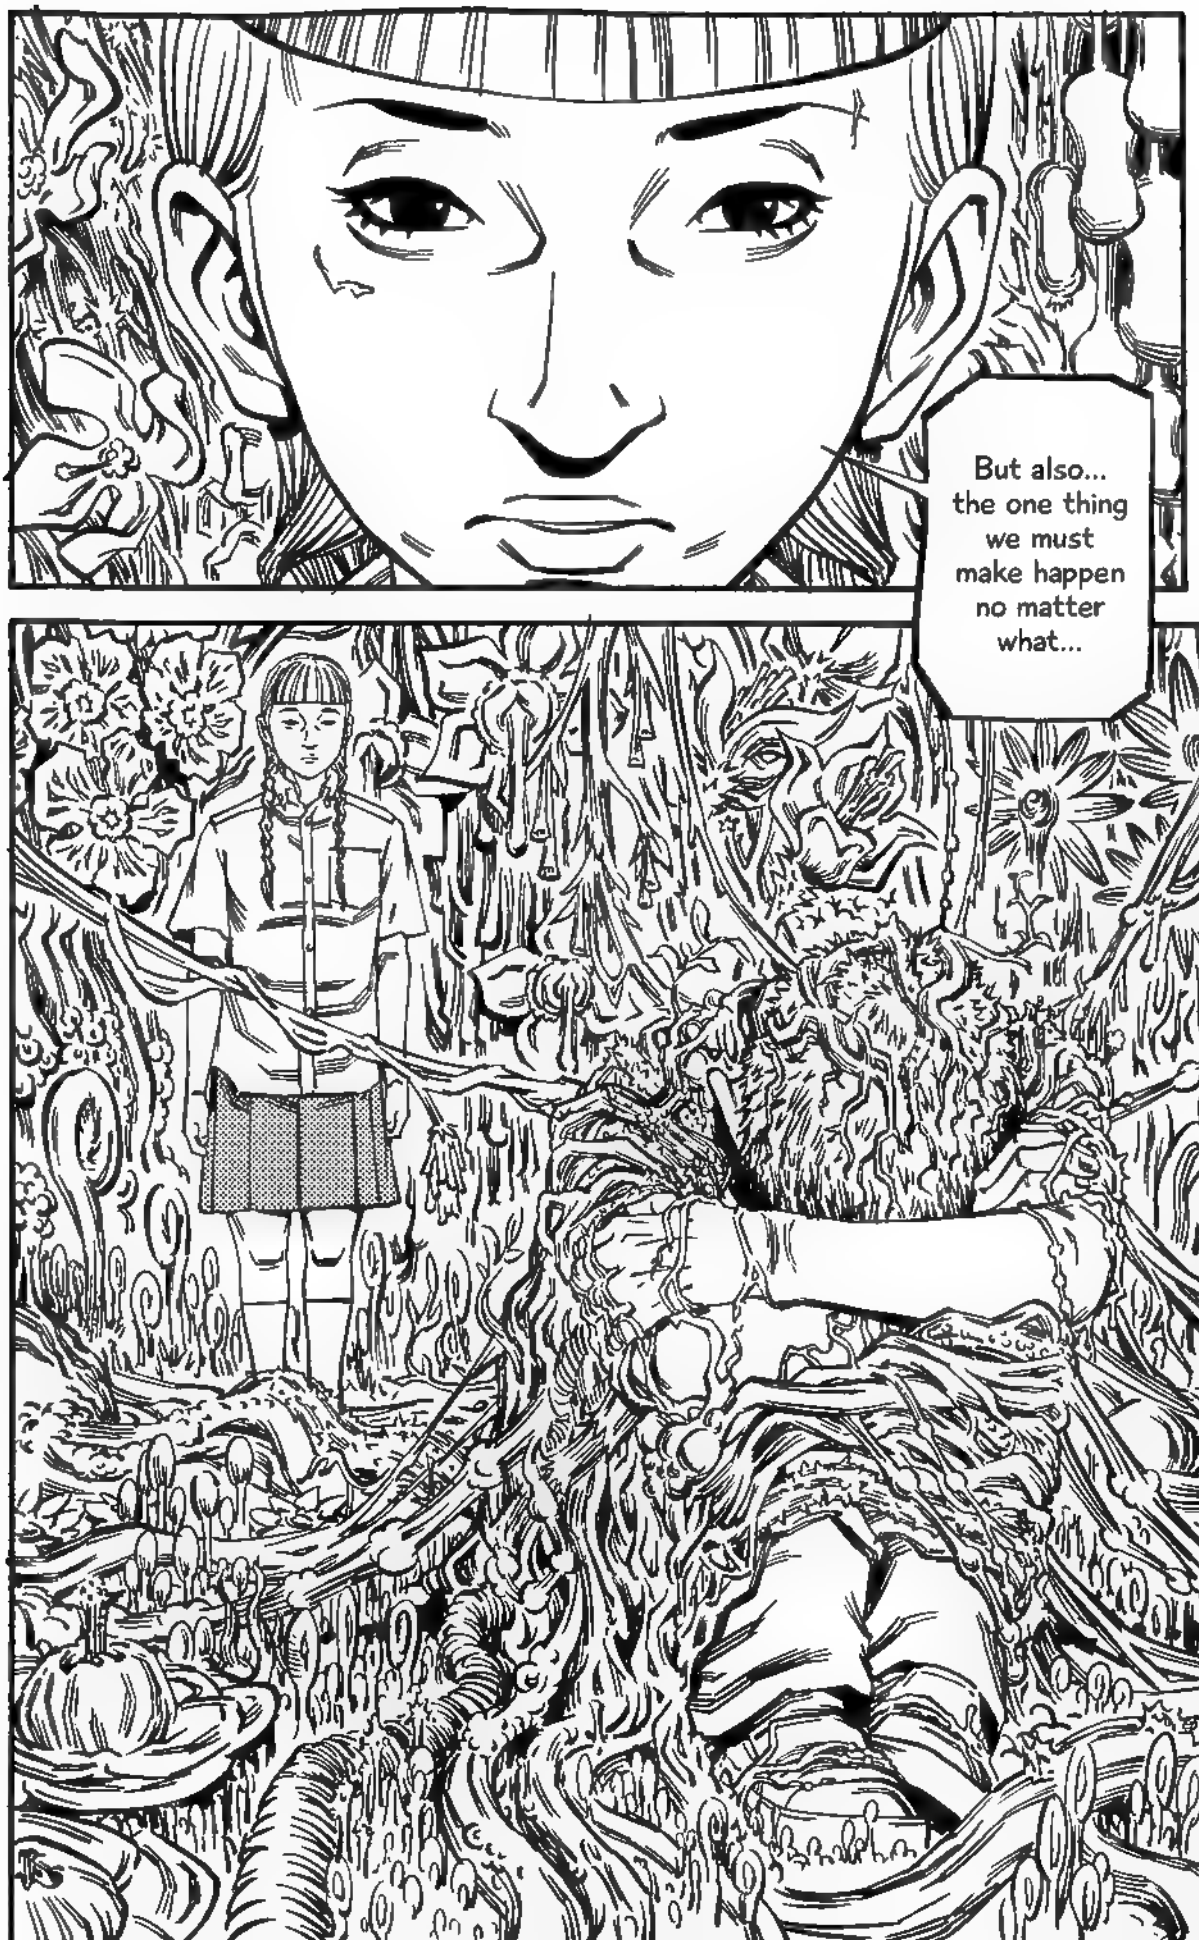
I'm afraid I don't know much more...
W... W-w-who!? Whose life will they sacrifice!?
A-a-and for what purpose!?
Then maybe it also means just how fast approaching "that moment" is ..
But... If this is a sign of how much they feel backed into a corner,

That is...
The one thing that must not be...



But also... the one thing we must make happen no matter what...

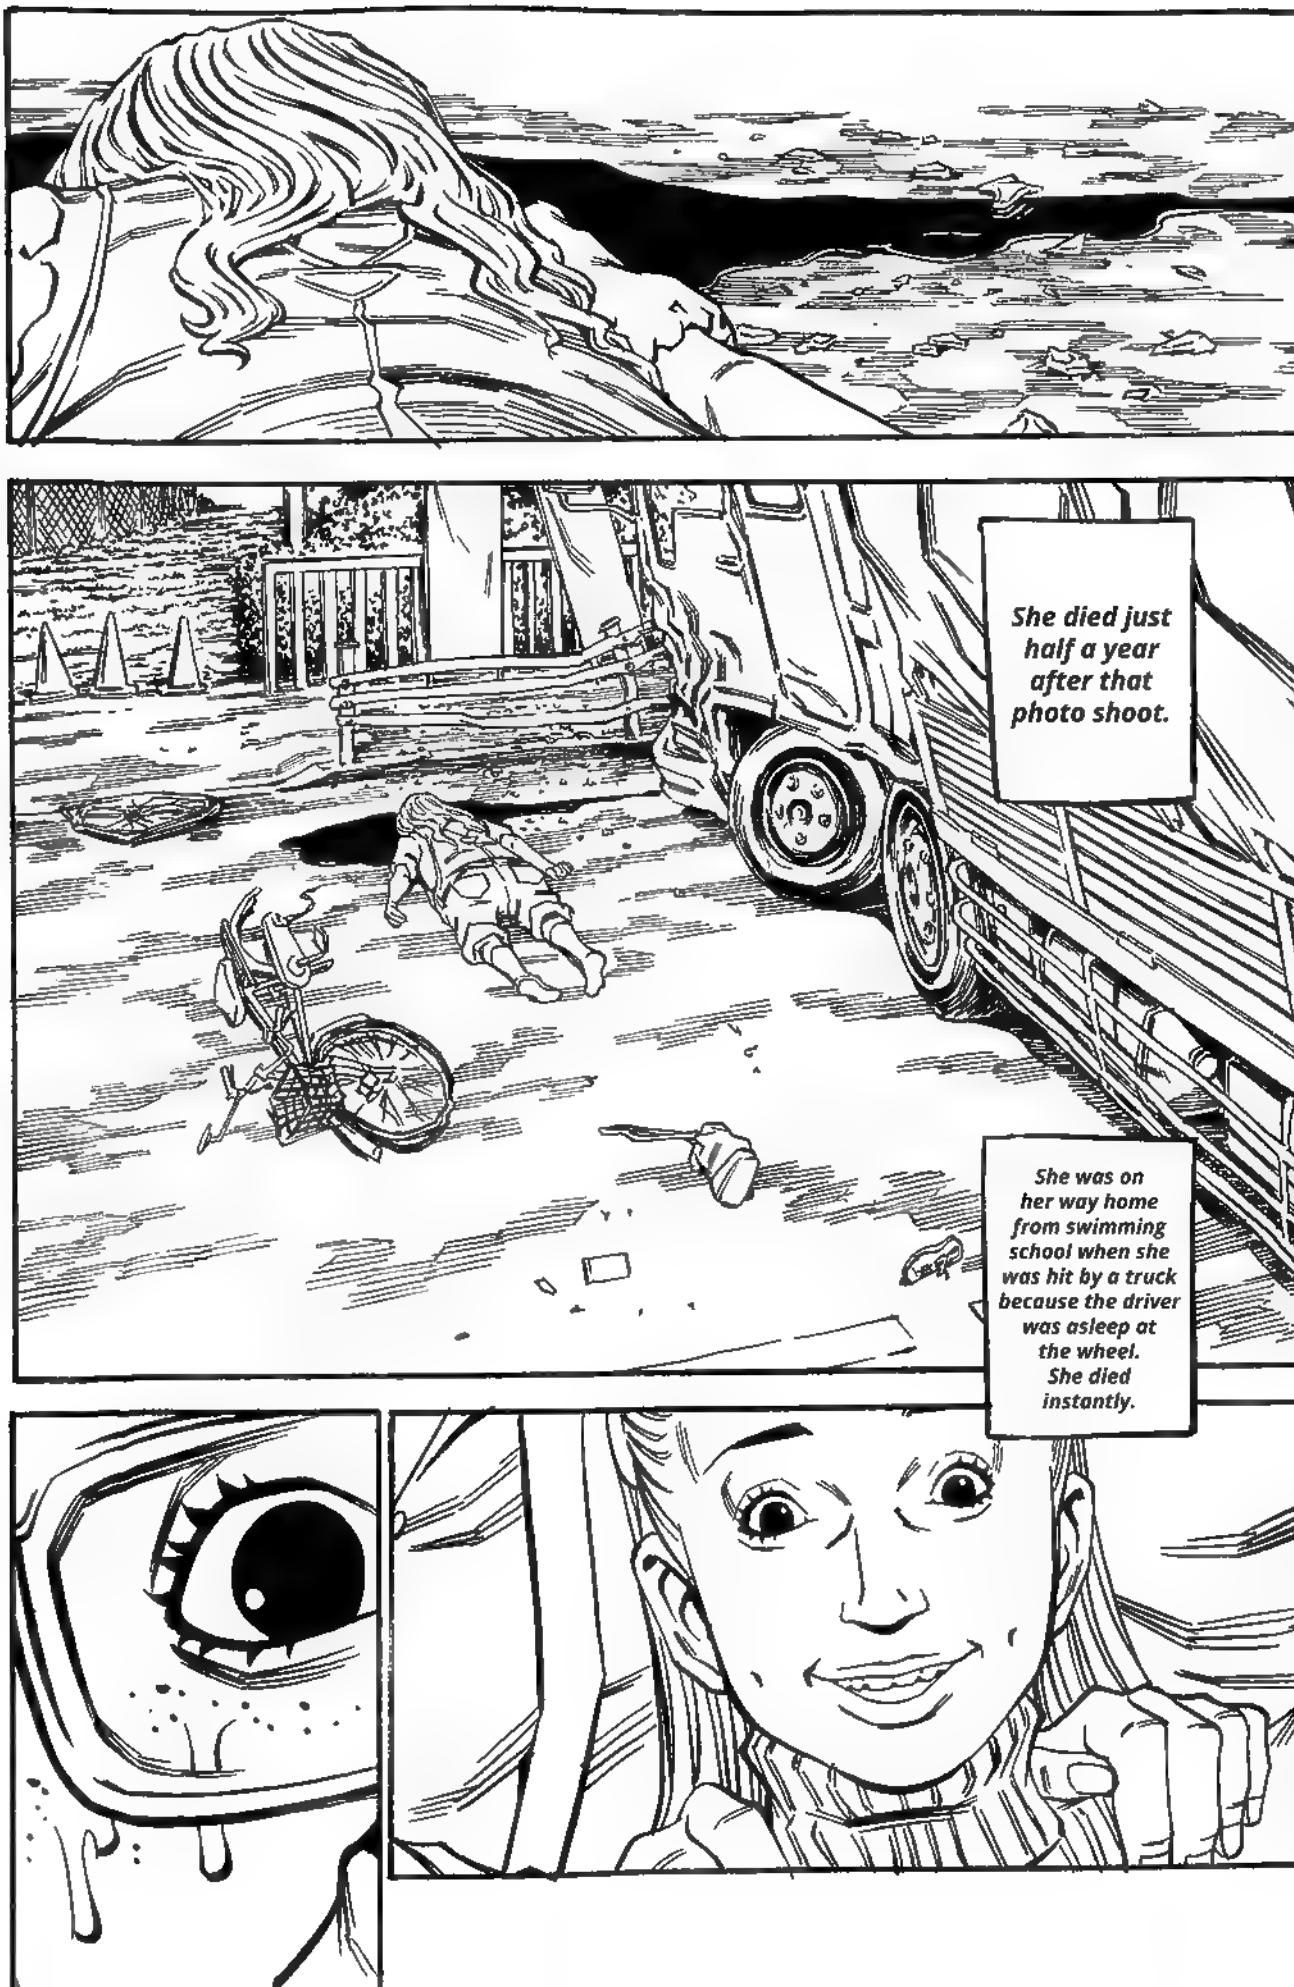
Suzushiro Masaki's actor is now 59 years old.
He's now running his family's eel farm in Northern Kyushu.
He failed his dream of living as an actor and returned back to his hometown 18 years ago.
There, he married one of his female co-workers,
And now has one son in high school.

He now enjoys a peaceful life in the town he grew up in.
Meanwhile, the woman who played Noriko was duped by some man she knew,
Leaving her in huge debt which ruined her life.

She's now 57 and serving her 4th prison sentence.
Upon becoming bankrupt, she became a prostitute for a while and got addicted to drugs.
M-m-mi-zuki...!?
A-a-a-and w-what about... M-m...



She died just half a year after that photo shoot.
She was on her way home from swimming school when she was hit by a truck because the driver was asleep at the wheel. She died instantly.

In short,
The "Suzushiros" don't exist.
Not now,
Nor in the past.

Was a complete fabrication.

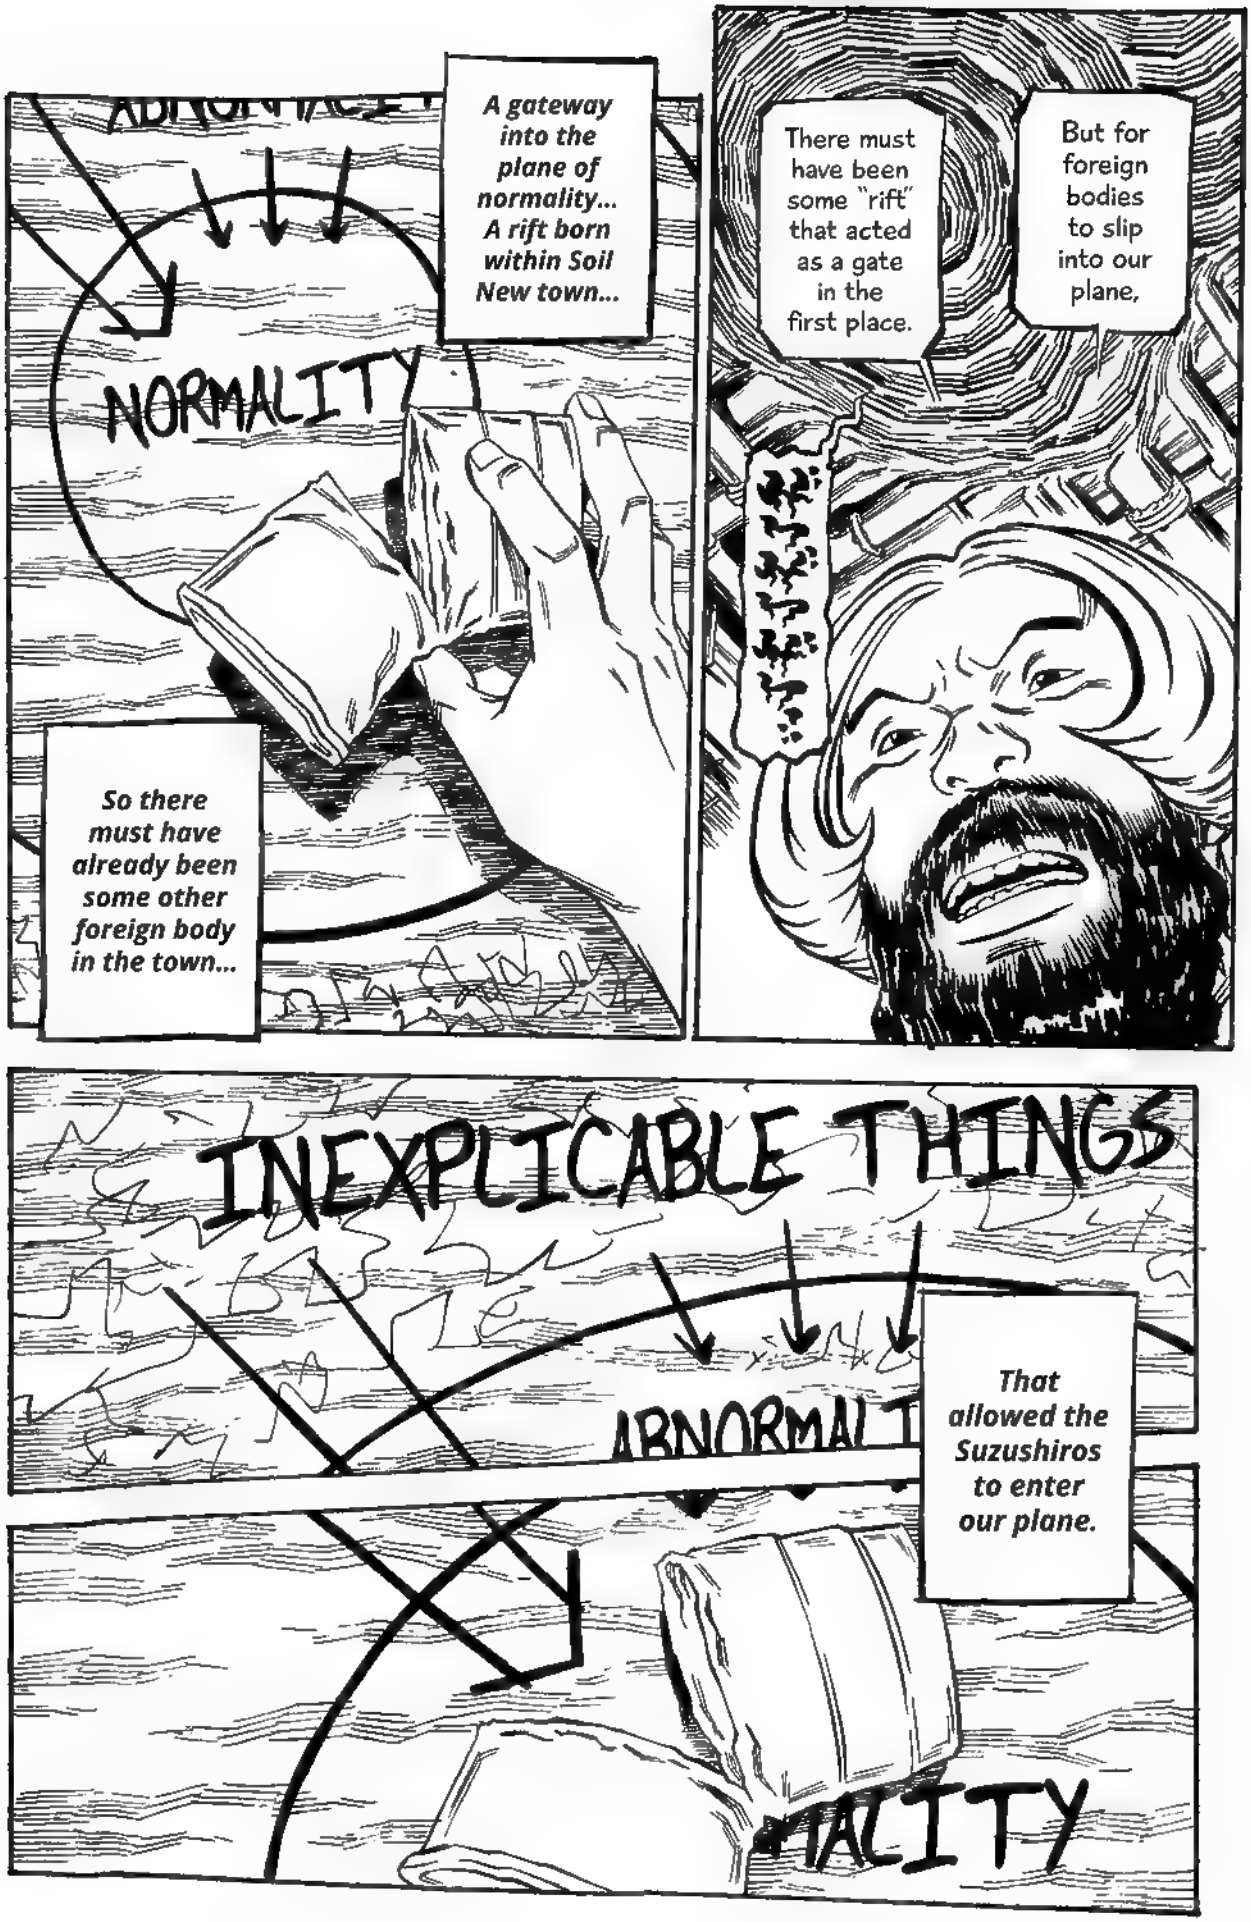
Foreign bodies...!?
A perfectly ordinary family yet full of sunshines and smiles all the time...
The perfect and most ideal family...
There's no way something like that could ever really exist.
But that inexplicable family,
Appeared in Soil as the Suzushiro family.

INEXPLICABLE THINGS
ABNORMALITY
NORMALITY
In other words, that family...
Is the same as the "blindfolded man" or the "salt that's not of this planet."
They're all "foreign bodies" that have managed to seep into our plane of "reality."
Hey, bitch!
You better be listening!
Y...
Yes, sir!
You're just pretending to understand, aren'cha!?



NORMALITY
A gateway into the plane of normality... A rift born within Soil New town...
So there must have already been some other foreign body in the town...
There must have been some "rift" that acted as a gate in the first place.
But for foreign bodies to slip into our plane,
INEXPLICABLE THINGS
That allowed the Suzushiros to enter our plane.

And that's how "reality" itself changed,
Into a "reality" which let the Suzushiros exist.

Right, and that's what we gotta stop, you dumbass!
Even before the Suzushiros came into existence...? T-t-there's something else h-h-here in this town...!?
G... G-g-gate...? A previously existing foreign body...!?
